A BIT OF HEAVEN IN '47

By PAUL D. EMMONS

"Build thee more stately mansions, O my soul."

Well, who's doing it, the Democrats or the Republicans?

The answer is, that both ought to be doing it. The need is too urgent to admit of any partisan politics.

What price mansions? Well, they certainly come devilish high if you build them on the ground. In fact, it's much cheaper to build them in your soul nowadays than anywhere else.

Along with mansions we really need more factories to give us greater production of goods in which there are shortages, and thereby bring down prices. That would be a perfectly sound approach to this problem of HCL.

Anway you look at it, the construction of more factories would be beneficial to the nation. Building them would give greater employment, manning them afterwards would give greater employment, and they would add to the wealth of the nation and be a hedge against the future demands of a constantly increasing population.

Then why aren't we getting them?

Well, as this correspondent knows, from personal experience and contacts, we are going to get some of them. There is a pent up demand for building space on which to put one-story factories. That's the 1 trend now. Everything on the ground floor. Elevators are out. Nobody wants to bother with them any more.

Certain large buildings are now contemplated in Boston and vicinity which are to have over 100,000 square feet of floor space, all on the ground floor. They must also have outside parking space for customers besides.

Just where all these spread-eagle plants are going to find the necessary room to put themselves is considerable of a problem. It will inevitably mean an expansion into rural areas hitherto untouched by large scale industry, with a consequent expansion of housing facilities in those areas to accomodate the influx of workers.

The principal obstacle to all this expansion right now lies in the scarcity of materials and high costs of construction. There is also the question of high taxes, and arbitrary demands of labor unions.

Many employers are saying that the labor unions are having more to say about running their business than they are themselves. They don't like it, consequently many business men who otherwise would be inclined to expand their productive facilities are loth to do it.

This situation, together with high taxes, is keeping a lot of investment capital from being put to work along the lines of business expansion.

There is very little incentive for men with available capital to go into business today. Excess profits taxes would eat up the major portion of their earnings, while on the other hand labor troubles and constantly mounting costs might nullify their efforts to build up any earings on their capital investment.

It's a touch situation, and just what the outcome is going to be is far from clear. It could be solved by a wise and farsighted spirit of co-operation on the part of labor, capital and management.

To bring this about will require a high quality of leadership in the nation's capital. But whether we will get that leadership from a haberdasher who is apparently entirely dependent on other people's advice for whatever action he takes is a very serious question.

Well, by the time you read these lines it will be the 7th and final month of the current year. And hell may be a-popping, and then again it may not. But there's the makings of it in Palestine, Italy and France.

Of all these three, France is the nearest to our heart, so to speak. She is the one with which we have the closest bonds, culturally and historically. Her collapse would probably deal us the severest blow.

It did in the war just ended —if you call it ended— It probably would in the "cold war" now in progress, and certainly would in any Third World War if it ever starts.

For the collapse of France would probably bring about the collapse of England, and with both these countries gone we shouldn't have a single Great Power friend left in the world.

In a way it seems odd that France should be so prone to collapse. She utterly failed to put up any effective resistance at the start of the Second World War. Her much touted Maginot line turned out to be simply a mirage, while her left-over heroes from the First World War turned out to be either duds or Quislings.

Today France is in dire need of either a Washington or a Lincoln to lead her out of her troubles. Her nearest approach to them is General Charles DeGaulle, but whether he has the necessary stature is somewhat doubtful.

He is a purely military man, with a military approach to the questions of the day. But these questions are deeply involved with economic problems, agitated by Communistic manipulation. Without this Soviet fifth column the economic questions would undoubtedly be much easier to deal with and it may be that military measures will have to be invoked in the course of their settlement.

But no country can for any great length of time, thrive and maintain itself as a military dictatorship unless it becomes a police state like the sel same Soviet tyranny it is striving to avoid.

That's the kind of cockeyed world we're living in tod'y.

Millions of men are out on strike in France and England. Their cry is for higher wages.

Question; where is the money coming from to pay them? Out of our pockets?

Albert Warner on the radio yesterday had something to say about the Creek government—or quasi government.

According to him this travesty of a government keeps no books and collects no taxes. It pays its bills by simply turning on the printing presses and grinding out more paper money.

That's one of the governments we are trying to back up. And if we don't back it up Russia will take over.

What encouraging situation, what?

How about each of us having our own printing press and paying our own bills that way?

Wilmington's Postmaster, Henry J. Porter, has announced that stamp collectors who are desirous of obtaining first day cancellations of the new three-cent Everglades National Park Commemorative postage stamps, may send not in excess of ten addressed envelopes, accompanied with cash or money order remittance, for the stamps to be affixed to the Postmaster at Florida City, Fyorida. The stamps will be available as of December 6th, and it is at this office that the first day sale of the new Everglades stamp will be held on December 5, 1947.

The covering envelope addressed to the Postmaster should be indorsed "First Day Covers, Everglades Stamp" and collectors are reminded that inasmuch as the new stamp is a vertical one, extreme care should be exercised in addressing the covers to see that sufficient space is left for the affixing of the stamps in the proper position.

The Everglades stamp will be issued in sheets of 50, and will be on sale at the Philatelic Agency, Washington, 25, D.C. on December 6 and at other post offices throughout the country as soon after December 5 as distribution will permit. The Philatelic Agency does not service first-day covers.

Miss Esther Clinch and Mr Howard Barber Married

One of the loveliest weddings of the fall season took place on Saturday afternoon, at the Methodist Church, when Miss Esther Maude Clinch, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Guy C. Clinch, of 67 Chestnut Street, was united in marriage with Mr. Howard A. Barber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barber, of Mineola, New York. The double ring ceremony was performed by the pastor Rev. Otis A. Maxfield assisted by Rev. Ernest C. Case, of the Framingham Methodist Church, with Mrs. Wilbur Staveley officiating at the organ, and soloist, Miss Helena Burovitch, of Dorchester. The church altar was beautifully decorated for the four o'clock afternoon ceremny, with baskets of chrysanthemums and autumn fernsh and flowers. The bride was escorted to the altar by her brother, Guy C. Clinch, Jr., and was given in marriage by her mother.

The bride was lovely in a bridal gown of heavy ivory satin, entrain, fashioned with sweetheart neckline, and fingertip veil of tulle cascaded from a pearl tiara. A bridal bouquet of white roses and chrysanthemums completed her costume. Maid of honor for her sister was Miss Marjorie Clinch who wore a gown of fuschia taffeta with bustle and mitts and a tiara of feathers with a veil of tulle. Bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Clinch, sister of the bride of St John, N. B., and Miss Gladys Galka of Wilmington friend of the bride. They wore blue taffeta gowns, similar to that of the maid of honor and mitts with a tiara of feathers and veil of tulle. They all carried arm bouquets of white chrysanthemums with bribbons to match gowns. William Cosgriff of New Yorke friend of the bridegroom, was best man and ushers were Frank Hinchliff and Warren Barber, both of New York.

The reception followed the ceremony, in the church vestry with the mother of the bride wearing a blue lace gown with a transparent velvet jacket and a corsage of red and white roses. The mother of the bridegroom was attired in a peach lace gown with a corsage of blue and white poms. Mrs. Douglas Mitchell sister of the bride, was in charge of the guest book and Mrs. F. H. Roberts was in charge of decorations. A catered lunch was served to about 125 guests, which included Mr and Mrs. Jeffery D. Journeay of St. John, New Brunswick, aunt and uncle of the bridegroom, also many friends and relatives from New York and Connecticut.

Gifts to the attendants were a pearl bracelet to the maid of honor and pearls necklaces to the bridesmaids. The bride is a graduate of Wilmington high school an dattended the Boston Conservatory of Music and was soloist in the Wilmington Methodist church as well as in many other churches. The bridegroom was educated in New York and is now attending the Brooklyn Polytech university, and is a veteran of World War II, with four years service with the aviation engineers overseas. For her travelling ensemble the bride wore a green wool suit with brown accessories and a corsage of white gardenias. After a motor trip to New Hampshire the couple will reside in Mineola, N. Y.

The flower girl was Edra Frances Dove, who wore a lilac taffeta gown and carried a bouquet of yellow poms. Michael Chalada was the ring bearer Thomas M. Flynn was his brother's best man and the ushers were Harvey LaForge of Rhode Island, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Edward Welling of Wilmington.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Blue Terrace on the Blue Terrace and the couple was assisted in receiving guests by mother of the bride, wearing a dusty blue crepe dress with black accessories, and the mother of the bridegroom, who was attired in a dusty wine crepe dress with black accessories. Both wore corsages of gardenias. Mrs. Jessie Dow was in charge of the guest book and music was furnished by a Lowell orchestra. Dinner was served to about 100 guests. Gifts for the attendants were pearls to the maid of honor, necklace and bracelet set to the bridesmaids and flower girl.

The bride is a graduate of the local high school and the bridegroom graduated from St. John's prep school in Danvers and is a veteran of World War II, having served two years in the U. S. Navy. Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Flynn left on an extended trip to Canada and for traveling in circle wore a wine suit with black accessories, a silver gird cocktail hat and a white orchid corsage. The couple will reside in North Wilmington.

—Delegates elected to the Middlesex County Council meeting of the Methodist Churches, included Mrs. Sadie Thiel, Mrs. Helen Nagy and Mrs. Margaret Woods, with alternates being Mrs. Helen Barnes, Mrs. Catherine Downing and Mrs. Mary Rothwell.

"TRICKS AND TREATS"

Are you trying to do your share to help the critical food situation in Europe? You can, you know, by saving a little here and there. A loaf of dark bread instead of white will make you feel better—by doing this, you will be helping them.

When we think of bread, we are thinking of meals usually, and with that we think of butter and milk in some way.

Milk adds the quality of protein which is lacking in most other food. Therefore, by including a glass with our meals we are rounding out the protein picture for the day.

One of the other reasons why we use milk is to maintain an adequate amount of VIROVLAVIN. Some of the most recent experiments have proven that this VITAMIN is not stable when exposed to light. However, up to the time that it is left at your door as bottled milk, there is little loss due to the rigid rules of the milk industry. So in order to do a little bit in this FOOD CONSERVATION PROGRAM, take your bottles of milk in the house as soon as possible, store it in a refrigerator if you do not want to use it right away. Remember not to keep your milk in a dark place; you maintain more value nutritionally speaking; you will need less to have a balanced diet and hence you save money, conserve food and help our friends in Europe.

—Mr. and Mrs. Alden J. Boyd, Concord st., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mildred B. Hood, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Turner Hood, Jr., of Burlington. No date has been set for the wedding.

—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith of Salem st., are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, Robert Joseph, born on Thursday, at the Winchester Hospital. Mrs. Smith is the former Joan Campbell Sandy.

—Don't forget to send in your gifts to be packed in the barrels of the American Legion Auxiliary to the Veterans Hospital. These gifts are not for the veterans but are for the comfort of the ward and the number of his family at no cost. Don't delay in getting your gift or money donation in to the Auxiliary, or in care of Mrs. Catherine Joyce.

FAREWELL PARTY AT TEWKSBURY HIGH

A farewell party was given to members of the Tewksbury High School football team last week by Captain elect Richard A. Patten and its other members of the 1947 squad. Mr. Donners of Lowell, entertained with a demonstration of card tricks. Table tennis served a popular game and shuffle board had many followers. A delicious corn chowder supper with all the fixings, doughnuts, apples, ice cream and cake, were served by the following committee: Mrs. H. J. Patten, Mrs. Nathan Aldrich, Mrs. Leon. and Kenagh, Mrs. William Robertson, Mrs. Joseph Mullen and Mrs. Natalie Rabak. Special guests at the affair were Headmaster Lawrence McGowan and Coach Charles Hazel.

WILMINGTON MAN ATTENDS CEREMONY

Edward D. Matherson, Herman, second class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Matherson, of 30 Main street, Wilmington witnessed the change-of-command ceremony aboard his ship, the light cruiser USS Pasadena, in Jersey Cliff Dock at Plymouth, England. Capt. William C. Mumelet relieved Capt. Elliott B. Strauss, who had commanded the cruiser since her commissioning 10 months ago.

The ceremony, one of the Navy's most impressive, was staged on the forecastle of the ship while the Pasadena, American and British and U. S. Naval officials from other units at Plymouth looked on.

Included in the visitors at the ceremony were Cmdr. Earl P. Finney, Jr., Commanding Officer of the destroyer USS Bordelon, and Cmdr. David S. Brown, recently relieved as Commanding Officer of the destroyer USS Vinson.

The Pasadena and the two destroyers are part of the Northern European Task Force of Admiral Robert L. Connelly, Commander Cruisers of U. S. Naval Forces in the Eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean.

Eeny, meeny, miney—NO!

Eeny, meeny, miney, mo,
Catch a dollar, see it go,
Saving money's awfully slow... isn't it?

The eeny-meeny system definitely is NOT the best way to separate the dollars-you-spend from the dollars-you-save.

If you're like most of us, by the time you've counted out money for the expenses of daily living, there are mighty few dollars left to save.

But saving can be easy . . . fast . . . automatic! Millions of Americans have found that out. They've discovered the sure-fire way to get a cash reserve for emergencies, to provide funds for travel, or education, or retirement.

What's their secret? It's buying U.S. Savings Bonds automatically! And now there are two ways you can do it!

1. The Payroll Savings Plan. Right now millions of Americans are saving regularly with this plan. Just sign up where you work. Every payday, part of your earnings automatically go into U.S. Savings Bonds. It's painless, and it's a mighty fast way to save.

2. The Bond-A-Month Plan. If you can't get on the Payroll Plan, and have a checking account, this is YOUR plan. You sign a card authorizing the bank to deduct, each month, the purchase price of a bond from your account. From then on, the bank does all the work, and you get all the Bonds, automatically!

No matter which plan you choose, you'll find these regular Bond purchases are the safest, surest way to reach financial security.

And how your money does grow when you put it into Bonds! Each $75 you save today will grow to $100 in just 10 years!

Buying Bonds helps keep your country financially sound, too. So buy all you can. They're always on sale at any bank or post office.

But the best way to buy Bonds—the best way to guarantee your future—is to buy them regularly on either of the two automatic savings plans!

Save the easy, automatic way—with U.S. Savings Bonds

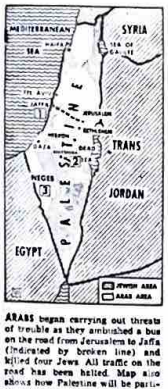
Trouble Begins



ARABS began carrying out threats of trouble as they ambushed a bus on the road from Jerusalem to Jaffa (indicated by broken line) and killed four Jews. All traffic on the road has been halted. Map also shows how Palestine will be partitioned under the final U. N. Assembly agreement. Jaffa (1) will be an Arab city in the Jewish state. Beersheba (2) in Negeb is included in the 575,000 acres in the Arab state. Egyptian frontier area (3) will go to the Arabs. (International)

N. A. C. A. Meeting Dec 10

On December 10th, the Boston Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants will hold its fourth regular monthly meeting of the current season at the Boston City Club. The subjects discussed at these meetings are of interest to all men and women in the accounting profession. This meeting, however, promises to be of greater interest than usual to a larger number of accountants, business executives, and tax consultants, as it is a joint meeting with the Mass. Society of Certified Public Accountants and Boston Control, Controllers Institute of America, and because of the prominence of the speaker, Roswell Magill, and his subject the "Federal Tax Outlook."

Mr. Magill is a professor at Columbia University and has been there since 1924. From 1943 to the present time he has been teaching taxation. He was Chief Attorney for the United States Treasury Department in 1923, was Assistant to the Secretary of the Treasury in 1933 and 1934 was Undersecretary of the Treasury in 1937 and 1938, and was Advisor to the Cuban Treasury in 1938 and 1939. He is a member of the American and State Bar Association. Mr. Magill is the author of several books, including "Cases on Taxes" in 1940, "The Impact of Federal Taxes" in 1943, and "A Tax Program for Solvent America" in 1945.

His subject the "Federal Tax Outlook" is not only timely, but of vital importance to all industry and is in the hands of a man well qualified to discuss it.

The Chairman and Discussion Leader of the evening, John J. Mellusar of Belmont, Partner, Spark, Mann & Company, Boston, is the President of the Mass. Society of Certified Public Accountants.

Boston business men in general and accountants in particular are deeply indebted to those who have been instrumental in bringing Mr. Magill to Boston, the Officers and Directors of Boston Chapter, N. A. C. A., whose roster includes Thomas L. Morison of Winchester, President, who is on the Faculty of the Bentley School of Accounting and Finance.

HOW TO SAVE FUEL THIS WINTER EXPLAINED

The scarcity of heating fuel which is being predicted for various sections of the country this winter will not be so severe in individual homes, provided those homes are properly winterized, it was declared today by the Construction Research Bureau of New York, clearing house for building information.

In fact, the Bureau said, individual householders can save from one-third to one-half the fuel that normally would be burned.

The Bureau was joined in its statements by suggestions issued by the federal government and the petroleum, coal and gas industries, all of whom asserted that complete thermal insulation will save enormous amounts of fuel.

Conclusions of these groups are based on unbiased scientific and field tests conducted over several years by government agencies and various state universities.

The United States Bureau of Mines is on record with the statement that more than one-billion dollars a year in fuel would be saved if all of the 38 million homes in America were insulated, weather-stripped, equipped with storm sash and all cracks are properly caulked where air might enter the residence. Today, only 85 per cent of the nation's homes are so protected.

In a comprehensive discussion of winterizing residences, the Small Homes Council of the University of Illinois states.

"Insulation is required in all homes that are heated in winter or are exposed to high temperatures in summer, and the greater the heat or cold, the greater the need for insulation."

This conclusion is based on frame house of either one or two stripping of insulation. This is reduced to 53 units for the one-stories requires 100 fuel units to heat it to a comfortable temperature without storm sash, weather tests conducted by the University which show that the average story home and 50 fuel units in the two-story structure by proper winterizing—in other words, a saving of approximately one-half the fuel.

In the average two-story home, fuel savings are listed thus by the University of Illinois:

Weather-stripping of all windows and doors, 5 units saved; weather-stripping, plus storm sash and doors, 18 units saved; 4-inch blanket of fibrous insulation, such as mineral wool, above floor ceiling, 13 units saved; full thick 3-5-8 inches of fibrous insulation in wall spaces, 19 units saved or a total saving of 50 of the required 100 fuel units.

Insulation of any existing home relatively easy and inexpensive by the use of mineral wool, according to the Construction Research Bureau. The material, which is naturally fireproof and needs no chemical treatment against fire or vermin, can be blown by air pressure into inaccessible spaces, while batts or blankets of the substance can be nailed between studs, joists and rafters where there is room for a man to work. CONCERT ASSOCIATION ANNOUNCE SHEDULE

The schedule of concerts for the first season of the Winchester Community Concert Association has just been announced by Mrs. Neil Borden, president of that organization. At 8:15 on Tuesday evening, January 6th, 1948, members of the Association will hear Jesus Saproma, "one of the most thoroughly communicative piano virtuosos," already well-known to Boston Symphony fans for his delightful interpretations of both classical and modern music. On March 9th, also a Tuesday, the Saidenberg Sinfonietta will appear as a result of the great number of requests received from subscription holders. This orchestra made its debut in New York in 1941, scoring a great success with both critics and public, but war conditions for several years after that made touring impossible.

For this reason this balanced ensemble of twenty-one musicians representing strings, wood, brass and percussion, is perhaps less well-known in person than the radio. The final attraction of the Association's first season will be Odd Duncan, internationally famous Negro baritone who just last month returned from a European tour where he gave concerts throughout England and on the continent from Norway to Rome.

The board of directors of the Association and its sponsor, the Smith College Club, are more than happy," said Mrs. Borden, "that such an ambitious program can materialize right here in Winchester. We feel particularly fortunate that this year, which might be considered a sort of experiment, has brough tsuch a large membership that we are able to present artists who are absolutely top."

"We really owe our success this first year mostly to the many volunteers who worked so loyally in the hectic campaign week," said Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth, Jr. membership chairman.

"Naturally we expected all members of the Smith College Club to support us, and we were gratified by the active cooperation of the board of directors, but that would never have put us over this way without these outside workers. These were Mrs. F. O. Adams, Mrs. John Anderson, Mrs. Charles Butler, Mrs. John Chipman, rMs. Vincent Clarke, Mrs. James Coon, Mrs. Donald Creswell, Mrs. Frank Eliseuis, Mrs. Hoyt C. Hottel, Mrs. George Irish, Mrs. Ronald King, Mrs. Clifford O. Mason, Jr., Mrs. Eugene Pollard, Mrs. Robert Scott, Mrs. Mary A. Wilder and Mrs. Mary Ranton Witham.

Mrs. Borden announced also that a special section will be reserved for all holding the lower priced student tickets. Government regulations require this because of the correspondingly lower tax.

GIRL SCOUTS NOTES

Last week a new Brownie Troop at Mystic School, Troop 23, was invested at a ceremony attended not only by the mothers of the Brownies and by Mrs. George Cary, Winchester Girl Scout commissioner, who pinned members of the troop, but also by Mrs. Ben Schneider, one of the early commissioners of the town. Before pinning the girls Mrs. Cary explained the significance of the pin, and the importance of remembering its meaning and being particularly careful to act accordingly when wearing one. The Brownies in Troop 23 are Ruth Archibald, Judith Delliecker, Cynthia Dennett, Victoria Dudley, Suzanne Goodwin, Jean Heard, Mary Laird, Ellen McNeilly, Mary Murphy, Doris Puilo, Patricia Sears, Gail Simonds, Jill Swonger, Margaret Thomas, Catherine Tonon and Carolyn and Christine Yorke.

The Leaders' Association tried an innovation last Wednesday by holding its regular monthly meeting in the afternoon instead of in the morning as usual. The sample Christmas crafts, demonstrated by Mrs. Amasa Harrington, were joyfully greeted by the leaders, always receptive to new ideas, and the folk dances were gayly undertaken though possibly less delicious refreshments would have left the leaders in better condition for such sustained activity. In spite of this, it was decided to have at least some future meetings similar affairs, with dessert and coffee preceding the business of the day.

Don't forget the ski movies taken and presented by Winthrop F. Potter, president of the Appalachian Mountain Club, 8 P. M. next Friday, December 12th, at the Episcopal Church. Men, women, boys and girls, experts and beginners, can learn a lot about skiing and will enjoy the thrilling pictures. Bring your friends. Any Scout of Storrow Troop 2 will be glad to sell you tickets, or you can get them at the Scout office.

TO HOLD WHIST PARTY

A whist party for the Catholic Youth Organization of the Church of the Immaculate Conception will be held sometime during the week of Monday, December 15th, for the benefit of the Catholic Youth of the parish. Rev. J. J. Sheehan is director of the C.Y.O. The co-chairmen are Mrs. Daniel O'Donnell, of 96 Hemenway street, and Mr. Hubert O'Donnell, of 10 Crane's Court, Woburn. The exact date for the whist will be announced next week in these columns.

FORTNIGHTLY CHRISTMAS MEETING

A program of unusual beauty and interset will be presented at the Christmas meeting of the Winchester Fortnightly to be held Monday, December 8, at 2 o'clock in the Unitarian Church.

Entitled "Night Before Christmas and All Through the House," a series of tableau will depict Christmas decorations particularly suited to the various parts of the home.

Originated and directed by Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini, who will also be the Narrator for the story which runs through the scenes, it will be a unique and most delightful presentation.

Bringing further pleasure, the Fortnightly Singers, under the direction of Mary Ranton Witham and accompanied by Lucy Wilcox Cushman, will sing appropriate carols for each tableau.

Appearing in the final scene, climaxing the production, are the following children: Bonnie Downes, Joan Ghirardini, Judith Ghirardini, Mary Jellison, Vicky McNamara, Jill Sibley, Carol Witham and Linda Witham.

Mrs. Ghirardini, the general chairman will be assisted by Mrs. Norman M. Mitchell, decorations; Mrs. R. C. Whitten, chairman of the conservation committee, hall decorations; and Mrs. Leonard J. Raymond, Christmas tree.

A Christmas Tea and social hour, with Mrs. Lewis M. Foster and Mrs. J. Henry Miley as hostesses, will follow the program.

SPEAKS AT LIBRARY CELEBRATION

Miss Corrine Mead, Librarian at the Winchester Public Library, was the guest of honor and speaker at the Fortieth Anniversary Observance and Open House of the Stevens Memorial Library in North Andover, on Sunday afternoon, November 23.

SPECIAL CHRISTMAS SERVICE

Tuesday, December 9, at 2 o'clock, a special Christmas Service will be held in Ripley Chapel, First Congregational Church, with Mrs. John P. Robertson leading the worship service, Mrs. Clarence R. Wickerson, presiding.

The luncheon that day is under the direction of Mrs. Robert A. Drake and Miss Margaret Copland.

On Tuesday, January 13, Mrs. Ralph Schrade will speak on "Opening Doors—to Famous Missionary Personalities," and the luncheon chairmen on that day will be Mrs. Harold Fiffeld and Mrs. Carle C. Zimmerman.

MRS. ROMEYN SPEAKS TO BUSINESS WOMEN WED. DECEMBER 17

Mrs. Grace Starbuck Romeyn of Melrose, noted inspirational speaker, will address the Christmas meeting of the Business and professional Women in Ripley Chapel, Wednesday evening, December 17, at 8 o'clock. The meeting, with its beautiful program of speaking and Christmas music, is open t oall women of the town. Miss Sylvia Smith will present organ music, and Miss Connie Green will sing favorite Christmas carols, in which the audience will join.

"Star-Touched" will be Mrs. Romeyn's subject. She will be introduced by Miss Emily Greene, president.

VISITORS TO FLURIDA

Many winchester residents are visitors to Florida's famous Silver Springs during the past weeks. They included Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Chesterman, of the Mystic Valley Parkway.

RAINBOW GIRLS TO HOLD MOTHER AND DAUGHTERS NIGHT

Plans are well under way for a Mother and Daughters Night to be held on Friday evening, December 12th. The big event of the year will be the Mistletoe Hop, to be held on Friday evening, December 26th.

HEADS WHEELOCK COMMITTEE

Mrs. Walter M. Ennis, of Englewood road, is chairman of the local alumnae committee, working for the $500,000 building fund for Wheelock College, Boston, which prepares teachers of young children.

COACH KNOWLTON TO RUN FOOTBALL MOVIES

Coach Henry T. Knowlton is planning to run movies of this year's Winchester High football game for parents and interested adults at the High School auditorium on Monday, December 8th, at the High School auditorium. There will be no admission charge.

POSTMASTER AMBROSE HONORED BY NAP

Announcement was made last week of the appointment of Postmaster Vincent C. Ambrose, to serve as a member of the Executive Committee of the National Association of Postmasters of the United States for the ensuing year. Mr. Ambrose will represent the postmasters of the New England states in all association matter.

—Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Tortolano, of 10 Lake street, Woburn, are happy to announce the engagement of their daughter, Edith, to Mr. Harold Maiullari, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Maiullari, of 19 Holland street, Winchester.

—Mr. Fred Donovan, well-known Immaculate Conception Church Club first president, arrived home from the Veterans Hospital last Wednesday, to spend a week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Donovan, of Wendell Street, Winchester. He is looking fine, and is reported to have put on weight.

MR. BRYER IN HOSPITAL

Arthur H. Bryer of 432 Washington street, local MSPCA officer, and director of the Small Animal Shelter in this town, is confined to the St. Elizabeth Hospital in Brighton, where he is resting comfortably after an operation. He will return to his home in two weeks, and will and will shortly there after resume his duties as humane officer in Winchester.

SUPPER MEETING

On Wednesday evening a supper preceding of the teaching staff and board of directors was held in Parish Hall, First Congregational Church. Co-chairmen of the supper were Mrs. Clarence R. Wickerson and Mrs. William G. Morse, Jr. Speaker of the evening was Dr. John L. Lobingier of Manchester road.

THIRTY N E COLLEGES

The parents of Winchester High School pupils will be much interested to attend a meeting on Thursday evening, December 11, when representatives of more than thirty New England Colleges will be present at a meeting at the high school to discuss the question — "What College" and to answer questions relative to the purpose of the colleges, opportunities of self help and advantages, etc. The following colleges are planning to send representatives:

Amherst, Bates, Boston College, Boston University, Bowdoin, Brown, Colby, Connecticut Coll., Dartmouth, Emmanuel, Harvard, Jackson, M. I. T., Wellesley, Wesleyan, Middlebury, Mt. Holyoke, Northeastern, Pembroke, Radcliffe, Regis, Rhode Island School of Design, Simmons, Smith Springfield, Massachusetts State Teachers College, Tufts, University of Massachusetts, Wheaton and Williams.

CHRISTMAS PARTY PHILATHEA

The Philathea Class of the First Baptist Church will hold its Christmas Party on Tuesday evening, December 9, at the Chapel.

Mrs. Herbert D. Lamson will read "The Birds' Christmas Carol". There will be the usual exchange of gifts, and refreshments under the direction of Mrs. Frederick B. Parks and her committe.

Mrs. Norman M. Mitchell of Highland Avenue spoke Monday, December 1, at the Garden Club of the Winthrop Woman's Club, taking as her subject, "Twas the Night Before Christmas and All Through the House."

Miss Florence Cunningham, recently chosen by Producer David O. Selznick of Hollywood, as Diction and Drama Coach and Director of Dialogue in his studio, is a sister of Dr. Allan Cunningham of this town.

Mrs. Earle F. Andrews of Highland Avenue, President of Doll Collectors of America, Inc." will preside at the meeting of the organization on Saturday, December 6, at the Hotel Bellevue, Boston, where "The Christmas Doll in Literature" will be presented.

Ninety-nine pounds of cereals, rice, powdered soups, etc., were brought by the children of the First Baptist Church on Thanksgiving Sunday, and sent to Frankfurt, Germany, while two bushels of canned goods and vegetables were sent to the Heath Memorial Center in Boston.

The soloist for the third Vesper Service on Sunday, December 14, will be Mary Saunders, soloist at the First Church, Boston.

FAT COLLECTIONS ARE STILL VITAL

Jesse B. Gilmer, Administrator of the Production and Marketing Administration of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, in an official statement points out the connection between world scarcities of wheat, corn and other grains used as feed for livestock and saturated used kitchen fats in American homes.

"Salvaged fat," says Mr. Gilmer, "has taken the place of other fats and oils, many of which require feed grains in their production." Behind that short sentence is a whole agricultural economy. Hogs and other livestock produce a large portion of the fats and oils used for food and in industries.

Many fats and oils have specific uses such as linseed oil for paints and varnishes. But, many of the fats and oils are interchangeable for industrial use. Fats that are in abundant supplies can be substituted in many instances for scarce fats and oils.

However, the entire world supply of fats and oils has dwindled ever since the begining of the second world war due to excessive demands upon fats and oils supplies and curtailed oil-seed crops and livestock production.
